An effort will be made at the meet of the state central comto be held in Detroit next day, to secure the state convention for this city. The member of the mittee from this district has been quietly at work with this end in view. d has met with warm amurances of operation from other members. The city is amply equiped to accommodate the state convention. Hartman's hall affords adequate seating capacity for the entire body of delegates and the great crowd likely to be attracted here by such a meeting. The hotel modations are superier to any in the state, insuring, together with the well-known nospitality of our citizens, the most satisfactory treatment of guests anywhere to be obtained. The railways centering here in turn radiate to the four cardinal points of the compass and make this city the most easy of access from all parts of the state. Bender this, at the time the conventien will be held the city will be attired in its summer costume, and will prove more attractive than any other town. There are many reasons why we should be henored by the convention and none why we should not be. A concerted effort in the direction of presenting ur claims will meet with recognition, and we shall have the proud distinction of being the birthplace of the ticket that shall reseem staid and steady old Michigan from the accident administration which has so disgraced

The republican party cannot afford to take any chances, and above all things the legislature should be de secure. There have been cases here the political division of the legislature was too close for comfort, even to at large was s Mican. There is more danger of it w since the democratic gerrymander of the senatorial and representtive districts. The only way to prevent this is to meet the energy in their strongbe done by having a leader who can carry these strongholds, one of which ie Wayne county and the city of Detrail. Mayor Pingree has twice demonstrated his ability to carry that democratic city-s marvellous accomplishment. If nominated for governor, it is beyond doubt that in his own city he will pull the legislative ticket through with him. As Wayne has twelve reprecoutatives and four senators, this is an important consideration, and is one of the many good reasons why Hazen 8. Pingree should head the republican state ticket.

STMPATHT FOR RICKERS.

Kickers are that irritating class of people who succeed only in exciting the antipathy of all with whom they come in contact. But what would the world do without the kickers? It is he who regulates by his enaris the inertia of those prene to idleness. It is he who oints abuses of times unwittingly pertrated by the over-realous. It is they who regulate the great body politic. Success in business ventures of any kind are prone to beget over confidence and lead men to lengths not intended. Humanity is apt to become absorbed in the contemplation of succossful achievments and unmindful of possible results unintentionally inflict injuries. The kicker calls a halt with his unwelcome and snarling denunciation. The kicker is the balance wheel of society, almost of civilization. In legislative bodies the influence of the kicker serves to lop off the obsectionable features of measures otherwise good. His opposition leads to dis-gustion and consideration. This is well. It serves its purpose by trimming to beneficent proportions measures which otherwise would fail of the d intended by overreaching, or falling short. Ideas which may seem so stion to their authors are clipped and sruned until they either fall, or, reduced to better prepartiess, soar gracefully and beneficently for the good of all. No one fikes the kicker. He commands no respect, or love, or consideration, but after all he is the great conservator of good.

GRAND RAPIDS HERALD Among the papers to com- RIGHT TO A POINT mend the action was an esteemed morning contemporary. It stated, with considerable show of carnestness, that in such cases the customer always paid for the prize, whether of great or little value, and deprecated the practice by implying that it was in the nature of a lettery. All of this was very true then and is very true now, But what is the c. c. going to say in justification of its scheme to toors its circulation by offering to small boys a base ball uniform and accoutrements of a represented total value of 7-in return for securing a limited number of subscribers to a paper sold to them at the rate of twenty for twenty-five cents? The paper ought to sell upon its merits. If it is forced to give away 87-dollar base ball outfits, roller skates and lawn tennis suits to get subscribers, the time may come when it will offer a free unch of bologns sausages and limurger cheese with the added inducement of a "schooner of beer" to each bone fide purchaser of a copy who pays ve cents therefor. The moral influence of such lottery schemes is corrupting, and the seed is sown in the minds of little boys who are inspired with the dea that they will get $7 worth of base ball traps for a few hours' work. Most any reputable journal would be sehamed of such a catch-penny fake. MR BARTER ON SILVER. In a speech made before the Bankers' club of Chicago, Congressman

Harter showed that the adoption of free coinage of silver would hurt the poor nstead of the rich. Men of wealth are the debtors. They have have credit. The majority of working men and women have their all in savings banks, life insurance and homes. During the last five weeks alver fluctuations have been great enough to ruin these people. Wage earners and pensioners would be compelled to receive dollars worth less than two-thirds their face value, and this would mean to them an annual loss of $1,427,000,000. Free silver coinage is solely in the interest of mine owners. In California bankers who urge free coinage inconsistently demand gold payments on all bills. In Australin and Mexico silver is produced at a cost not exceeding 37 cents per ounce. The Bland bill proposes to open our mints to this silver as well as our own. Volume should not be, and is not, the principal consideration. Only 1 per cent in Great Britain and New York. and only 3 per cent in Chicago, of the business transacted is done in actual money. Value, not quantity, should be the measure. They have only $18 per capita in Great Britain as against our $24. The Argentine Republic has more than ten times this amount per capita, but they have no such prosperity as we would want. If the people who are now calling the loudest for free silver would bend their energies evils of which they complain would disappear. No country enjoys a better credit than Great Britain. No country has so well maintained its money standard. She based it on the recognized standard of the world and has not sought to pay in a depreciated currency. Any tampering with money is more or less disastrous. This is shown in the fact that today we are receiving our securities back from Europe at the rate of about $15,000,000 per month. Had there been no tampering with our money we would be receiving gold in place of securities.

THAT second childhood which comes to the aged and clothes them with a bloom more fragrant, more lovable than the waywardness of childhood will allow, seems not to have spread its softening influence over a Georgia couple whose combined age is 169 years. THERE is only one way to get around Judge Burlingame's decision annulting the milk ordinance and that is Chicago-like to take in several miles on each ade of the present city limits. We shall then have a city of farms and cow pastures and Chicago will not be slone in its glory.

TO THE MICHIGAN SENATORS

Praying for the Improvement of the Grand River-Heavy Capitalists Subscribe Their Signatures.

Secretary Van Asmus of the board of trade has been busy for two days circulating a petition for the improvement of Grand river, to be forwarded to the senstors from this state. He secured a formidable list of names and last evening at 4 o'clock he forwarded the petition and list to Senators Stockbridge and McMillan. A supplemental etition will be kept at the office of the board of trade, where all who may desire to do so may sign. The petition reads:

Senators James McMillan, F. B. Stockbridge - The improvement of Grand river is of the greatest importance to the commercial, manufactur-ing and farming interests of western Michigan, and we very respectfully re-quest and urge that you will use your utmost efforts and make it a personal matter to see that the engineer's recommendation for a $100,000 appropriation is complied with, in the senate amendments to the river and harbor

The population of our city today is at least 90,000 people, the business largely manufacturing, the products being marketed in all civilized coun-

Ever since the operation of the interstate commerce law, freights to and from this city by the west have been compelled to pay an advance, on an average, of not less than six (6) cents per hundred pounds. As this burden was placed on Grand Rapids through an act of congress, and has been th means of increasing the cost of placing our manufactured products in the markets of the great west, we pray congress to afford us relief by provid-ing for the improvement of Grand

The freight trafficin and out of Grand Rapids for 1891 was 1,236,049 tons, and we estimate that with ten feet navigation to Lake Michigan, a saving in freights will be effected on an average of not less than 1 cent per hundred pounds, which will amount to the very large sum of $247,389 per annum. In dition to this other localities along the river will also be largely benefited.

We respectfully submit that the magnitude of the interests involved, and the comparatively small amount required to do the work would warrant an appropriation for the full amount recommended by Colonel Ludlow, the engineer in charge of this department.

Lima, the Birthplace of the Electric Car Some of the Joys and Sorrows of Getting & Draft Cashed.

The success and prosperity of the Chi-society, of New York, is anale proof of the great wealth and intelligence of the Buckeye State, but after all it is better to travel through the great state and of from her countine average of wealth from her beautiful and well bempt farms to her statemen, from her cabbages to her natural gas. You understand it that can be secured. The appearance of this superb organization in Grand Rapids is a treat; a privilege that the lovers of music never dreamed of. Too much expression of appreciation cannot be given to F. M. Davis and A. H. Morehead, who, it is understood, had the courage to piedge the orchestra a large certainty in order to induce them to come here. In addition to the fine program of said and substantial music, bugene D'Albert, the renowned planist, who is compared with Rubenstein, will render several solos. The

The middle states have one peculiarity that they are beginning almost to wish they did not have, although it was started out to be a charm. Charms, however

We were visiting Lima not long sin s thrifty town with all the snap and vigor of a new gold camp in the west, yet with the shrewd and cool headed ness tact of a Cape Cod town. She has this characteristic, however, to which I have darkly alluded. It is a public square. The public square was of course intended to be on the start a thing of besuty, but it has in too many of the middle state towns become an open atr livery stable, covered with the choice decorations of a badly farmed farm.

the equare is of course geographically in the center of the town, and is distinctly visible from every direction. The idea is a good one, but when it becomes the grazing ground of the mothesten horse and the home of the watermelon rind, the spring of the year adds no beauties to it and Taxpayer and Veritas write pieces about it.

It is also in many cases a hay and wood market. Here the man in the blue fraudulently.

Teams to accord engaged to traffic on the streets engine not to be parentited to stand hitched made the business part of any city whatever. Even Minneapolia, big and prosperous as she is, still permits hundreds of farm teams to stand tied along its main avenues, not only by the hour, but by the day, a vast fringe of the parenties and hotts in the very of starvation, colic and botts in the very heart of a great, thriving and beautiful

The farmer would not want the gas works on his farm. Why does he expect to bring his animances into town? Because the farm is too often in the spring of the year a vast, humilisting exposure, that is no reason why these sanitary methods should be brought into town, is it?

Lima has about the earliest electric car line in America. It is a double trolly system, and the cars are getting old and childish. The reiling stock is to be renewed very soon.

At all these towns pearly every ene's room is heated by natural gas. It helds out very well. I was through this state early in the discovery business, and I then prophesied that gas from the interior of the earth would continue to manifest itself up to the present time and possibly even later. Subsequent his tory has shown that I was right.

The electric street cars of Lima an sadly out of repair, as I said. They have the odor of a cheap lodging house on the Bowery, as nearly as I can recall it now. They are shabby in the extreme. Also in the middle. Next Lent I shall abetain from the use of these cars.

Lima is one of the thrifty and prosperons cities of Ohio, and is also the home of the Lima bean. In Cincinnati the other day we tried to buy a New York draft. The first four banks were just out of New York drafts, and the fifth one had just been plugiarized by a "goutlemen with a cough who downed the bank for some $27.83 I believe, and so to did mobified like selling New York exchange to "strangers." seventy-five cents for the arrest and apprehension of the Send who had "did it up" in that bold way.

It seems that some months ago a man

It seems that some months ago a man from Chattanooga came in "with a chugh" and presented a draft for payment. It was pretty large, and the cashier looked stanctioning at the owner of the paper, but he hipt his band up to his mouth with that smally, dry, hacking cough, which they say carried him off pretty som. Something did, anyhow. Possibly it was the cars.

When the draft was sent on for payment to the hank on which it was drawn is was discovered, about too late, that the than with the cough was use of those practical engineers who can put a pair of jackstream under a ten dellar draft and raim it to any required descendingless while you will.

me can a proparation of pulp and a powerful press, with which he filled up the § mark generally out out of the paper at the end of the amount of the traft. Then he could easily out out such other figures as his desire for ready money seemed to justify.

I had the misfortune to drop into sev-eral banks in Cincinnati soon after the affair, and having, as I do, the sir of a threathly makener hallion from Tome plausible, unhang bellion from Tomp rinsville, States Island, of course I wa at once spotted by the eagle eyed man behind the wires, who had resolved the no stranger should steal the bank's fund

Finally, at the German National bank was received kindly and a draft wa sold to me at a reasonable price, with the understanding that I would be care ful of it. A Cincinnati merchant and to me, however, that it was not fear o my ultimate intention to raise the draft that led the other banks to be rude. was probably quite another reason. Bu even if that were the case, why couldn' they say at once that they had no de posits with the New York banks and a could not sell a draft? I would not hav told any one. I would have respecte their squalor and misery. Now of course I am under no obligations.

On the street yesterday I ran into young man who was admiring his new pring suit in the glass store fronte as b. passed along the street. I hurt him quite severely. He reproached me, but am accustomed to that. A little reproach in the spring of the year does me

I saw him coming a square away and regarding himself with ill diaguise. affection in the big windows and allow ing ladies and children to get out of his way or have a wing knocked off, so I said to my companion, "See me knock's little North Carolina etiquette into that mollusk that we see youder."

When I got up speed I steered for him with a newspaper in my hand, reading it carefully and trying to figure out what show there was for a premature preci-dential boom which has the dressing removed from it a month too early. I got up pretty good steam, for I weigh over 185 pounds now, and living at first class-hotels all winter has given me fresh vitality and filled me with animal spirit-and high purposes.

There was a sort of crunching so such as one hears when the lion tames inserts his head into the open jaws of the wrong lion by mistake. The young man staggered back over a dressed bog and the two lay there together, as it were, one dressed hog beside the other dressed hog. It was a touching sight The overdressed hog did not look so peaceful as the other one did. He had a troubled look which was not shared by the one that had the forced smile and a chin in his mouth, also a stick to prop his bosom open.

There are several street puisances of this kind who make it dangerous for people to walk much in town. One walks along the street reveling in the view of himself in the store fronts; another reads the paper on the street, and another goes along counting his change, ever and anon stealing a ride on some lady's train.

I hate a man who will do that and then brag about it. A man who will consely deceave a girl that way and then taugh about it ought to be written up in the papers, and I was glad to see that the play turned out that way. I always like to see a play like that. It elevates me. One man was killed in the play, but it was not so sickening as some deaths are on the stage. I could have made it more sickening for twenty-five dollars It is the only weak place in the play
